4. For the purposes of this Act, any member of a town constabulary shall, within the limits of the town for which he acts as a constable, have all the powers and authorities of a police or rural constable in relation to offences which are by this Act specially declared to be offences in towns.

PART I
GENERAL PROVISIONS
TITLE 1

Introductory Provisions

- Acts done partly within and partly beyond the jurisdiction.
5. Where an act which, if done wholly within the jurisdiction of a magistrate's court, would be a summary conviction offence cognizable in that court, is done partly within and partly beyond that court's jurisdiction, every person who, within the jurisdiction, does or abets any part of that act shall be liable to be proceeded against and convicted and punished for the offence in the same manner as if the act had been done wholly within the jurisdiction.
- Presumption of age of child.
6. Where any person is charged with an offence under this Act, or under any other written law for the time being in force, in respect of a child who is alleged in the complaint to be under any specified age, and the child appears to the court to be under that age, the child shall, for the purposes of this Act or of that other written law, be deemed to be under that age, unless the contrary is proved.
- Saving of right of punishment.
7. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to take away or affect the right of the guardian or teacher of any child to administer reasonable and proper punishment to the child.
- Saving of jurisdiction of High Court.
8. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to affect the criminal jurisdiction of the High Court.
- Saving of offences constituted by other written law.
9. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to take away or affect the jurisdiction of a magistrate or justice of the peace in respect of offences constituted by any other written law for the time being in force and not specified in this Act.

Saving of liability under other written law.

10. Where a summary conviction offence punishable under this Act is also punishable under any other written law for the time being in force, the offence may be prosecuted and punished either under this Act or under the other written law, but so that no person is punished twice for the same offence.

Restrictions on jurisdiction in respect of questions of title or insolvency.

11. Nothing in this Act shall authorise the court to hear and determine any complaint for a summary conviction offence under this Act in which any question in good faith arises as to the title to any immovable property or any interest therein or accruing therefrom, or as to any bankruptcy or insolvency, or as to any execution under the process of the High Court.

TITLE 2

Punishments

Punishments under the Act.

12. The following punishments may be inflicted under this Act, namely, fine, payment of compensation for injury done, whipping, flogging, and imprisonment.

Infliction of lesser fine.

13. The court may, in its discretion, adjudge any person convicted before it of a summary conviction offence punishable by a fine under this Act to any less penalty than the penalty prescribed by this Act for that offence.

Award of compensation to person injured.
[4 of 1972
21 of 1978
1 of 1989
8 of 1997
10 of 1998]

14. The Court may, in its discretion, on the application of the complainant adjudge any person convicted before it of a summary conviction offence to make compensation, exceeding forty-nine thousand dollars but not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars, to any person who suffers any injury (including loss of or damage to his property) as a result of the commission of the offence; and any sum so adjudged shall be regarded and dealt with

c. 7:01 in all respects as if it were a sum awarded by a judgment of the court under the Summary Jurisdiction (Petty Debt) Act:

Provided that where the conviction is in respect of an offence committed prior to the coming into operation of this section the compensation awarded shall not exceed that amount which the court could have awarded at the time of the commission of the offence.

Effect of payment of compensation. [21 of 1978] 15. Where any person who suffers any injury as aforesaid as a result of the commission of a summary conviction offence receives compensation for the injury under the order of the court, the receipt of that compensation shall be a bar to any action for the same injury.

Saving of civil action. 16. Subject to section 15, nothing in this Act shall affect the right of action of any person in respect of any injury sustained by him or his property by the commission of a summary conviction offence.

Reduction of term of imprisonment. 17. Where any person is convicted of a summary conviction offence punishable by imprisonment under this Act, the court may, in its discretion, adjudge him to undergo any less term of imprisonment than the term prescribed by this Act for the offence.

Consecutive sentences of imprisonment. [6 of 1937] 18. (1) Where the court adjudges any person to undergo a term of imprisonment for a summary conviction offence, and he is already undergoing, or has been at the same sitting of the court adjudged to undergo imprisonment for another offence, the court may direct that that imprisonment shall commence at the expiration of the imprisonment which he is then undergoing, or has been so previously adjudged to undergo as aforesaid.

(2) In this section the expression 'imprisonment' shall include cases where imprisonment is imposed by a court on any person with or without the option of a fine or in respect of the non-payment of any sum of money or for failing to do or abstaining from doing any act or thing required to be done or left undone.

TITLE 3

Abetment and Attempt

Abetment of summary conviction offence.

19. Every person who aids, abets, counsels, causes, or procures, the commission of any summary conviction offence shall be liable to be proceeded against and convicted for that offence, either together with the principal offender or before or after his conviction, and shall be liable, on conviction, to the same punishment as that to which the principal offender is liable by law.

Attempt and incitement to commit summary conviction offence.

20. Subject to the express provisions of any statute for the time being in force in that behalf, every person who attempts to commit, or incites any other person to commit, any summary conviction offence shall be liable to one-half of the punishment prescribed for that offence by the statute creating it.

Where offence is accompanied by attempt to commit indictable offence.

31. If, on the hearing of any complaint for an offence under this Title, the court finds that offence to have been accompanied by any attempt to commit felony, or is of opinion that the case is, from any other circumstance, a fit subject for prosecution by indictment, the court shall abstain from any adjudication thereupon, and shall deal with the matter in all respects in the same manner as if the court had no authority finally to hear and determine it.

PART III
OFFENCES AGAINST RIGHTS OF PROPERTY AND RIGHTS ARISING OUT OF CONTRACTS

TITLE 5

Wilful Trespass to Property

Interpretation of term in

32. In this Title, the term „owner` includes any tenant

Title 5. or occupier, and the attorney or agent of any owner as thus defined.

Acts constituting wilful trespass.

33. Everyone who—

- (a) unlawfully enters, in an insulting, annoying, or threatening manner, upon any land, yard, garden, stelling, house, or premises, or in any canal, trench, or pond, belonging to another; or
- (b) unlawfully enters upon or in that land or other place after having been forbidden by the owner thereof, or his servant, to do so; or
- (c) unlawfully enters and remains upon or in that land or other place after having been required by the owner thereof, or his servant, to depart therefrom; or
- (d) having lawfully entered upon or in that land or other place, misconducts himself by behaving thereon in an insulting, annoying, or threatening manner; or
- (e) having lawfully entered upon or in that land or other place, remains thereon after having been lawfully required by the owner thereof, or his servant, to depart therefrom, shall be deemed a wilful trespasser.

Wilful trespass
notwithstanding notice.

34. (1) Everyone who wilfully trespasses on any land, yard, garden, stelling, house, or premises, or in any canal, trench, or pond, belonging to another, on or near to which there is posted up, in one or more conspicuous place or places, a notice, in large legible letters, forbidding in general terms all persons to trespass and warning them that they will be prosecuted for so doing without leave of the owner of the land, yard, garden, stelling, house, premises, canal, trench, or pond, shall be deemed a wilful trespasser.

(2) That trespasser may be seized and detained by the owner or his servant, or by any person whom the owner or the servant may call to his assistance and shall be taken without delay before a magistrate or to a police station, to be dealt with according to law.

Trespass to land by night.

35. (1) Everyone found between the hours of seven o'clock in the evening of the day and five o'clock in the morning of the next day in any yard, garden, farm, or cultivated lands, or in any interval between cultivated lands other than a path permitted to be used by the general public, or in or about the works of any sugar estate, who, on being taken before the magistrate of the district in which he is so found, fails to satisfy the magistrate that he had some reasonable cause or excuse for being in the place where he was so found, shall be deemed a wilful trespasser.

(2) That trespasser may be seized and detained by any police or other constable, or by the owner of the land or premises on or near which the trespasser is found, or his servant, or by any person whom the police or other constable, or the owner or servant calls to his assistance and shall be taken without delay before a magistrate or to a police station, to be dealt with according to law.

Mode of dealing with article found in

36. If the trespasser, at the time of his trespassing, has, or is in possession of, any sugar-cane, coffee, possession of wilful

trespasser.

plantain, banana, fruit, or vegetable product similar in kind to any growing or being in or upon the land, yard, garden, house, or premises on which the trespass is committed, or of any fish similar in kind to any then or immediately theretofore in the canal, trench, or pond in which the trespass is committed, the owner or his servant aforesaid may seize and detain the sugar-cane, coffee, plantain, banana, fruit, or vegetable product, or fish, until the trespasser proves, to the satisfaction of the magistrate, that it has not been taken or obtained out of or from the land, yard, garden, house, premises, canal, trench, or pond aforesaid; and in the event of a trespasser failing to give that proof, the article shall be delivered to the owner, to be by him disposed of as he thinks fit.

Dealing with animal or thing brought on land by wilful
trespasser.

37. If the trespasser carries, leads, or drives on the land, yard, garden, stelling, house, or premises on which the trespass is committed any horse, mule, ass, or other animal, or puts or places, or causes to be put or placed, on the land, yard, garden, stelling, house, or premises, any cart, wheelbarrow, or other vehicle, building, materials, tools, or implements of any description, timber, firewood, or other wood, or any other thing of whatever description, that horse, mule, ass, animal, cart, wheelbarrow, vehicle, building material, tool, implement, timber, firewood, wood, and thing may be seized and detained by the owner of the land, yard, garden, stelling, house, or premises, or by his servant; and, on complaint made and on proof, to the satisfaction of the magistrate, that any person trespassing as aforesaid has carried, led, or driven on the land, yard, stelling, house, or premises, on which the trespass was committed the horse, mule, ass, or animal, or has put or placed or caused to be put or placed, on the land, yard, garden, stelling, house, or premises the cart, wheelbarrow, vehicle, building material, tool, implement, timber, firewood, wood, or thing, the magistrate shall order it to be publicly sold within ten days thereafter, and out of the proceeds thereof shall pay the amount of any damage suffered by the owner by virtue of the trespass, and shall deduct the amount of any fine inflicted upon the trespasser, unless the amount of the damage and fine is sooner paid.

Wilful trespass
with vessel on private wharf

notwithstanding notice.

38. (1) Every person who fastens any vessel, boat, bateau, punt, corial, craft, raft, or float to any private stelling, wharf, land, or landing-place, or any part thereof, or brings, places, or puts any vessel, boat, bateau, punt, corial, craft, raft, or float in any private trench or canal, whether used or not for drainage or otherwise, or puts or places any article whatsoever upon the stelling, wharf, land, or landing-place, or in or over the trench or canal, on or near to which there is posted up a notice, in large legible letters, forbidding in general terms all persons to trespass and warning them that they will be prosecuted for so doing, without leave of the owner of the stelling, wharf, land, landing-place, trench, or canal, or without some pressing necessity, shall be deemed a wilful trespasser.

(2) That trespasser, vessel, boat, bateau, punt, corial, craft, raft, float, and article may be seized and detained by the owner or his servant, or by any person whom the owner or the servant calls to his assistance, and the trespasser shall be taken without delay before a magistrate or to a police station, to be dealt with according to law.

(3) If any damage is done to the stelling, wharf, land, landing-place, trench, or canal, or if any fine is imposed on the trespasser, the magistrate shall order the vessel, boat, bateau, punt, corial, craft, raft, or float, to be publicly sold within ten days thereafter, and out of the proceeds thereof shall pay to the owner of the stelling, wharf, land, landing-place, trench, or canal the amount of the damage so done, and shall deduct the amount of any fine inflicted upon the trespasser, unless the amount of the damage and fine is sooner paid.

Wilful trespass on land between high and low water marks notwithstanding notice and fishing therefrom.

39. (1) Everyone found in or upon, or entering in or upon, any land, whether covered with water or not, situate between high water-mark and low water-mark upon the bank of any river, creek, or stream, or upon the sea-coast in front of any plantation, estate, or land, on or near to which there is posted up a notice, in large legible letters, forbidding in general terms all persons to trespass and warning them that they will be prosecuted for so doing without leave of the owner of that plantation, estate, or land, who there destroys, ensnares, catches, or takes any fish, crab, or other animal, shall be deemed a wilful trespasser.

(2) That trespasser may be seized and detained by the owner or his servant, or by any person whom the owner or the servant calls to his assistance, and shall be taken without delay before a magistrate or to a police station, to be dealt with according to law.

(3) If the trespasser, at the time of his trespassing, has with him any vessel, boat, bateau, punt, corial, craft, raft, or float, or any seine, net, fishing-tackle, or other implement for destroying, ensnaring, catching, or taking fish, crabs, or other animals, that also may be seized and detained by the owner, servant, or person, and if the trespasser is convicted, the magistrate shall order the article to be publicly sold within ten days thereafter, and out of the proceeds thereof, shall pay the amount of any damage suffered by the owner by virtue of the trespass, and shall deduct the amount of any fine inflicted upon the trespasser, unless the amount of the damage and fine is sooner paid.

(4) If the trespasser, at the time of his trespassing, has, or is in possession of, any fish, crab, or other animal, whether dead or alive, it may be seized by the owner, servant, or person and taken before the magistrate, who, if the trespasser is not able to prove that he caught or obtained the fish, crab, or other animal, at or from some place other than that upon which he was found trespassing, shall order the fish, crab, or other animal to be delivered to the owner, to be by him disposed of as he thinks fit.

Wilful trespass on land between high and low water-marks notwithstanding notice, and cutting wood thereon.

40. (1) Everyone found in or upon, or entering in or upon, any land, whether covered with water or not, situate between high water-mark and low water-mark upon the bank of any river, creek, or stream, or upon the sea-coast in front of any plantation, estate, or land, on or near to which is posted up a notice, in large legible letters, forbidding in general terms all persons to trespass and warning them that they will be prosecuted for so doing without leave of the owner of the plantation, estate, or land, who there cuts down, cuts up, or gathers any wood, timber, or tree, or any part of any wood, timber, or tree, whether growing or fallen, or digs up, removes, or carries away any soil, caddy, sand, or shells, shall be deemed a wilful trespasser.

(2) That trespasser may be seized and detained by the owner, or his servant, or by any person, whom the owner or the servant calls to his assistance, and shall be taken without delay before a magistrate, or to a police station, to be dealt with according to law.

(3) If the trespasser, at the time of his trespassing, has with him any vessel, boat, bateau, punt, corial, craft, raft, or float, or any axe, hatchet, cutlass, saw, or other tool or implement used for or capable of felling trees, or of cutting or splitting wood, or of digging, lifting up, removing, or carrying away any soil, caddy, sand, or shells, that also may be seized and detained by the owner, servant, or person, and, on complaint made for the trespass, the magistrate may order the article to be publicly sold within ten days thereafter, and out of the proceeds thereof shall pay the amount of any damage suffered by the owner by virtue of the trespass, and shall deduct the amount of any fine inflicted upon the trespasser, unless the amount of the damage and fine is sooner paid.

(4) If the trespasser has ready for removal any wood, timber, tree, soil, caddy, sand, or shells, the same shall be forfeited and delivered over, on the order of the magistrate, to the owner, to be by him disposed of as he thinks fit.

Saving of certain rights of pathway.

41. No labourer or other person having or occupying any house or cottage, or any room therein on any plantation or settlement, having an open path, or road, or way generally used leading from a public way to that house, cottage, or room, nor his family, relations, and visitors, shall be deemed a wilful trespasser or wilful trespassers, within the meaning of this Title, by reason of his or their passing or repassing along or upon the open path, or road, or way generally used.

the possession of another, or to which any other has the right of possession, notwithstanding that the thing is not of any pecuniary or saleable value, or of any value whatever, except to the person to whom it belongs, or in whose possession it is, or in whom exists the right of possession, shall, be liable to a fine of not less than five thousand dollars nor more than ten thousand dollars, although no pecuniary damage to the thing has been committed by the person so offending.

When offender is in possession of property injured.

63. Every provision of this Title not hereinbefore so applied shall apply to every person who, with intent to injure or defraud any other person, commits any of the offences mentioned in this Title, although the offender may be in possession of the property against or in respect of which the offence is committed.

Malice against owner of property not necessary.

64. Every punishment by this Title imposed on any person who unlawfully and maliciously commits any offence against or in respect of property shall equally apply and be enforced whether the offence is committed from malice conceived against the owner of the property in respect of which it is committed or otherwise.

Saving of act done under colour of right.

65. Nothing shall be an offence under any provision contained in this Title unless it is done without legal justification:

Provided that where the offence consists in an injury to anything in which the offender has an interest, the existence of that interest, if partial, shall not prevent his act being an offence, and the fact that the thing injured belonged wholly to the offender shall not prevent his act being an offence, if it is done with intent to injure or defraud.

TITLE 7

Roguery and vagabondage
[6 of 1946
4 of 1972
1 of 1989
8 of 1997

144.(1) Everyone who does or suffers any of the following acts or things shall be declared a rogue and vagabond, and shall be liable to a fine of not less than ten thousand dollars nor more than twenty thousand dollars or to imprisonment for ten months, that is to say, everyone who—

- (a) is convicted a second or any subsequent time of being a vagrant or idle and disorderly person; or
- (b) while being apprehended as a vagrant or idle and disorderly person, assaults or violently resists the police or rural constable or other person who is apprehending him, and is subsequently convicted of the offence for which he was being apprehended; or
- (c) procures or endeavours to procure alms or charitable contributions for himself or any other person, under any false or fraudulent pretence; or
- (d) is found in or under any porch, verandah, gallery, outhouse, passage, gateway, dwelling-house, warehouse, store, shop, stable, or other building, or in any yard, garden, or other enclosed place or land for any unlawful purpose, or, being found in any of those places, does not give a satisfactory account of himself; or
- (e) plays or bets by way of wagering or gaming in any street, road, highway or other open or public place, or in any open place to which the public have or are permitted to have access to or with any table, dice, cards or other instrument or means of such wagering or gaming at any game or pretended game of chance; or

- (f) has in his custody or possession any picklock, key, crowbar, jack, bit, or other implement, with intent unlawfully to break into any building, or is armed with or has upon him any gun, pistol, sword, knife, razor, bludgeon, or other deadly or dangerous weapon or instrument, with intent to commit any unlawful act; and the weapon or instrument shall, on the conviction of the offender, be forfeited; or
- (g) is convicted a second or any subsequent time of an offence against section 136(a) or section 141; or
- (h) is convicted a second or any subsequent time of an offence against section 159; or
- (i) being a suspected person or reputed thief, loiters or lurks about or frequents any river, canal, or navigable stream, or any market, warehouse, wharf, dock, or stelling, or loiters or lurks in or about or frequents any vessel, punt, boat, or other craft, with intent to commit any robbery, theft, or unlawful act, or is found in any of those places or in any vessel, boat, punt, or other craft aforesaid, and does not give a satisfactory account of himself; or
- (j) is convicted a second or any subsequent time of an offence against section 161; or

- (k) unlawfully sells, attempts to sell, or unlawfully acts as an agent for the sale of any lottery ticket.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (1), where the court, having regard to the youth of the person convicted, his character, or his previous good behaviour, or such other considerations as may seem fit, is of opinion that it would be unduly harsh to declare such person a rogue and vagabond then the court may in its discretion refrain from declaring such person a rogue and vagabond.

Obeah and Witchcraft

Interpretation
of „obeah“

145. (1) For the purposes of this section „obeah“ signifies every pretended assumption of supernatural power or knowledge whatever, for fraudulent or illicit purposes or for gain, or for the injury of any person.

(2) Everyone who—

Practising obeah to intimidate, defraud or injure
[8 of 1997]

- (a) by the practice or pretended practice of obeah, or by any occult means or assumption of supernatural power or knowledge, or by any pretended love philtre or medicine,—
- (i) intimidates, or attempts to intimidate or influence, anyone; or
- (ii) obtains or endeavours to obtain any chattel, money, or valuable security, from another; or

- (iii) pretends to discover any lost or stolen goods, or the person who stole them, or to inflict any disease, loss, damage, or personal injury, to or upon another, or to restore another to health, or to cause or divert affection; and
- (b) procures, counsels, induces, or persuades, or endeavours to persuade, another to commit any of those offences, whether with or without payment,
- Aiding and abetting shall on conviction before any magistrate, be deemed a rogue and vagabond, and be imprisoned, with or without hard labour, for any term not exceeding twelve months, and if a male, may be sentenced to a flogging during the continuance of the imprisonment, and if a female, may during the imprisonment be kept in solitary confinement not exceeding six days at any one time and not exceeding two months in the whole, as directed by the magistrate, and shall in addition be liable to a fine of not less than ten thousand dollars nor more than twenty thousand dollars.

- (3) If it is shown, upon the oath of a credible witness, that there is reasonable cause to suspect that any person is in possession of any human skull, or part thereof, or other portion of the human body, or any other article or thing, for the purpose of being used in the practice of obeah or witchcraft, any magistrate may, by warrant, under his hand, cause any place whatsoever belonging to, or under the control of, that person to be searched, either by day or night and, if any of those articles are found in any place so searched, may cause them to be seized and brought before him or some other magistrate who shall cause them to be secured for the purpose of production in evidence in any case in which they are required.

Possession for purposes of obeah [1 of 1989, 8 of 1997, 10 of 1998] (4) Anyone in possession of any article or thing aforesaid, for the purpose of using it or causing or allowing it to be used in the practice of obeah or witchcraft, shall be liable to a fine of not less than fifteen thousand dollars nor more than thirty thousand dollars or to imprisonment not exceeding eighteen months.

Fortune-telling [1 of 1989, 8 of 1997, 10 of 1998] (5) Anyone who uses any subtle craft, means, or device, by palmistry, cards, or otherwise, to deceive and impose upon another, and anyone who for personal gain pretends or professes to tell fortunes, shall be liable to a fine of not less than seven thousand five hundred dollars nor more than fifteen thousand dollars and to imprisonment for ten months.

Seizure and disposal of articles used for witchcraft. (6) Any police or rural constable may seize all articles and things used, or intended to be used, or which he may suspect are intended to be used, in the pretence of practising obeah or witchcraft, sorcery, enchantment, or conjuration, and take them before a magistrate, and the magistrate may order the articles or things to be destroyed or otherwise dealt with as he thinks fit.

c 47:01 (7) (a) The Postmaster General, or anyone authorised by him, shall detain and search any postal packet (as defined by the Post and Telegraph Act) which he suspects to contain any charms, or other articles of any description whatsoever to be used in witchcraft, or any letters, or printed or written matter, giving instructions in witchcraft or sorcery, or any sorcerous matter of whatever description.

(b) If on the search anything is found which is deemed to be for use or instruction in witchcraft or sorcery, or of a sorcerous nature, it shall be dealt with in the manner directed by the Minister.

Proof of unlawful intent.

146. In proving a purpose or intent under any of the provisions of the two last preceding sections, it shall not be necessary to show that the person charged was guilty of any particular act or acts tending to show his purpose or intent, and he may be convicted if, from the circumstances of the case and from his known character as proved to the court, it appears to the court that his purpose was unlawful, or that his intent was to commit a robbery, theft, or unlawful act.

Incorrigible Rogues

Incorrigible
roguery.
[10 of 1998]

147. Everyone who –

- (a) commits an offence against this Title which subjects him to be dealt with as a rogue and vagabond, he having been previously convicted thereof; or
- (b) while being apprehended as a rogue and vagabond, assaults or violently resists the police or rural constable or other person apprehending him, and is subsequently convicted of the offence for which he was being apprehended, shall be deemed to be an incorrigible rogue, and shall be liable to imprisonment for twelve months and to whipping or flogging.

Requiring
incorrigible rogue to find sureties.
[10 of 1998]

148. Everyone convicted of being an incorrigible rogue may, in addition to any punishment imposed under the last preceding section, be required by the court to enter into a recognisance, either with or without a surety or sureties, as to the court seems fit, to be of good behaviour for any period not exceeding twenty-four months, and, in default of entering into the recognisance, he shall be liable to imprisonment for six months, in addition to any term of

Apprehension of offender against this Title.

imprisonment last aforesaid.

149.(1) Any police or rural constable may arrest without warrant any person whom he finds committing an offence against any of the preceding sections of this Title.

(2) On information being laid upon oath before any justice of the peace that any person reasonably suspected to be a vagrant or idle and disorderly person, or a rogue and vagabond, or an incorrigible rogue, is or is reasonably suspected to be harboured or concealed in any house, building, or place, the justice may authorise, by warrant under his hand, any police or rural constable to enter at any time, by force if necessary, the house, building, or place, and to apprehend and bring the person before a magistrate to be dealt with according to law.

Harbouring thieves

Harbouring thieves in lodging-house,
or place of sale
of liquors or brothels.
[1 of 1989
8 of 1997
10 of 1998]

150.(1) Everyone who—

- (a) occupies, or keeps, or manages for another, or holds a licence for, any lodging-house, tavern, retail spirit shop, or place where intoxicating liquors are sold, or any place of public entertainment or public resort, and knowingly lodges or harbours thieves or reputed thieves, or knowingly suffers them to meet or assemble therein, or knowingly allows the deposit of goods therein, having reasonable cause for believing the goods to be stolen; or
- (b) occupies or keeps any brothel, and knowingly lodges or harbours thieves or reputed thieves, or knowingly suffers them to meet or assemble therein, or knowingly allows the deposit of goods therein, having reasonable cause for believing them to be stolen, shall be liable to a fine of not less than fifteen thousand dollars nor more than thirty thousand dollars.

(2) The court may, if it thinks fit, either in addition to or in lieu of that penalty, require the person to enter into a recognisance, either with or without a surety or sureties, as to the court seems fit, to keep the peace and be of good behaviour for any period not exceeding twelve months.

(3) No person shall be imprisoned for not finding a surety or sureties in pursuance of the preceding subsection for any longer period than three months, nor shall the security required from a surety exceed fifteen thousand dollars.

Entering premises for discovery of thieves
[1 of 1989
8 of 1997
10 of 1998
19 of 2007]

151. (1) Any police constable may, for the purpose of detecting or preventing the contravention of any of the provisions of subsection (1) (b) of the last preceding section, at all times enter on any premises referred to therein; and everyone who, by himself, or by any person in his employ, or acting by his direction, or with his consent, refuses or neglects to admit any police constable in the execution of his duty demanding to enter on those premises in pursuance of this section shall be liable to a fine of not less than ten thousand dollars nor more than twenty thousand dollars, and, on a second or any subsequent conviction for that offence, shall be liable to a fine of not less than fifteen thousand dollars nor more than thirty thousand dollars.

(2) Where any person who holds a retail spirit licence or is employed by the holder of a retail spirit licence, is convicted under this section or subsection (1) of the last preceding section, the magistrate shall transmit a copy of the evidence taken in the case to the excise board, who may take the evidence into consideration when deciding as to the renewal of that licence.

Lodging or harbouring of wanted person.
[19 of 2007]

151A. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 150 or any other law everyone who knowingly lodges or harbours any person whose name and photograph have been publicly displayed or published by the police as a wanted person in connection with any alleged commission of a crime commits an offence and shall be liable to a fine of not less than fifty thousand dollars nor more than eighty thousand dollars together with imprisonment for a period not exceeding three years and the court shall in addition to the penalty order to be forfeited to the State any assets derived by the commission of the offence or property, including immovable property, owned and used directly by the person in connection with the lodging or harbouring of the wanted person.

Search for Stolen Property

Entry by police on premises and search for and seizure of stolen property.

152. (1) Any police constable may, in the circumstances hereafter in this section mentioned, be authorised in writing by the Commissioner, or the Deputy Commissioner, of Police, or by a superintendent of police, to enter, and, if so authorised, may enter, any house, shop, warehouse, yard, or other premises in search of stolen property, and search for and seize and secure any property which he believes to have been stolen, in the same manner as he would be authorised to do if he had a search warrant and the property seized, if any, corresponded to the property described in the search warrant.

(2) Whenever any property is seized in pursuance of this section, the person on whose premises it was at the time of the seizure, or the person from whom it was taken, if other than the person on whose premises it was, shall, unless previously charged with receiving it knowing it to have been stolen, be apprehended and brought, or be summoned, before the court to account for his possession of the property, and the court shall make such order respecting the disposal of the property, and may award such costs, as the justice of the case may require.

(3) Any officer of police aforesaid may give the authority aforesaid in the following cases, or either of them –

- (a) where the premises to be searched are, or within the twelve months have been, in the occupation of any person who has been convicted of receiving stolen property or of harbouring thieves; or
- (b) where the premises to be searched are in the occupation of any person who has been convicted of any offence involving fraud or dishonesty, and punishable by imprisonment.

(4) It shall not be necessary for the officer of police, on giving the authority, to specify any particular property, but he may give the authority if he has reason to believe generally that the premises are being made a receptacle for stolen goods.

(2) Every bicycle, tricycle and other similar machine shall be deemed to be a vehicle within the meaning of subsection (1) (xiii), (xx), (xxi), (xxiii) and (xxv).

Driving Cart, etc.

When driver's name is unknown.

154. (1) If the driver or other person in charge of any cart, carriage, or other vehicle, or of any animal, whose name is unknown, contravenes any of the provisions of this Title or of Title 14, relating to carts, carriages, or vehicles, or to animals, and that person is not apprehended and taken into custody, the magistrate of the district may summon the owner of the cart, carriage, vehicle, or animal, to come before him and disclose the name of the person who was driving or in charge of it at the time when the offence was committed, to the intent that the person may be proceeded against according to law; and if the owner of the cart, carriage, vehicle, or animal refuses or neglects to attend after having been duly summoned, or if he attends but refuses to disclose the name of the person who was driving or in charge of the cart, carriage, vehicle or animal, he shall be subject and liable to the like penalty as he, if known, would have been subject and liable to under this Title or Title 14, and he shall be convicted in like manner as if he himself had been actually driving or in charge of the cart, carriage, vehicle, or animal, at the time when the offence was committed:

Provided that if the cart, carriage, vehicle, or animal belongs to, or is in the employ of, any plantation or estate, the manager or person in charge of the plantation or estate, and not the owner of the cart, carriage, vehicle, or animal, shall be summoned and dealt with in the manner hereinbefore provided.

(2) Every bicycle, tricycle and other similar machine shall be deemed to be a vehicle within the meaning of this section.

When person in charge of vehicle or animal is apprehended.
[6 of 1937]

155. (1) Where any person having charge of any cart, carriage, or other vehicle, or of any animal, is apprehended for any offence against the provisions of this Title or of Title 14, other than sections 176 to 188 (inclusive) the person apprehending the offender may take charge of the cart, carriage, vehicle or animal, and may deposit it in some place of safe custody, as a security for the payment of any fine to which the owner, or the person having charge, thereof has become liable, and for payment of any expenses which have been or are necessarily incurred in taking charge of and keeping it, and, if it is desirable to do so, in order that it may be produced at the hearing of the cause; and the magistrate may order the cart, carriage, vehicle, or animal to be sold for the purpose of satisfying the fine and all reasonable expenses:

Provided that, on sufficient security being furnished for the payment of the sums aforesaid, a magistrate or police officer may direct the cart, carriage, vehicle, or animal to be delivered up to the owner.

(2) Every bicycle, tricycle or other similar machine shall be deemed to be a vehicle within the meaning of this section.

10 of 1998]

- (a) for the purposes or by way of trade, or for distribution or public exhibition, makes, or produces, or has in his possession, or imports, conveys, or exports, or causes to be imported, conveyed, or exported, or in any manner whatsoever puts into circulation, any obscene writing, drawing, print, painting, printed matter, picture, poster, emblem, photograph, cinematograph film, or any other obscene object; or
- (b) carries on or takes part in a business, whether public or private, concerned with any of those obscene matters or things, or deals in any of them in any manner whatsoever, or distributes them, or exhibits them publicly, or makes a business of lending them; or

- (c) advertises or makes known by any means whatsoever in view of assisting in that circulation or traffic, that any person is engaged in any of the above acts, or advertises or makes known how or from whom any of the obscene matters or things aforesaid may be procured either directly or indirectly, shall be liable to a fine of not less than twenty-five thousand dollars nor more than fifty thousand dollars or to imprisonment for twelve months.

Power to search for, seize and destroy obscene objects.

158. (1) On proof upon oath before a magistrate that there is reasonable cause to suspect that any of the obscene matters or things in the preceding section mentioned are kept in any house, shop, room, or other place, within the limits of his jurisdiction for any of the purposes in that section mentioned, the magistrate may authorise, by warrant under his hand, any police constable to enter in the daytime, by force, if necessary, that house, shop, room, or other place, and to search for, seize, and bring before him any of the obscene matters or things aforesaid found in the house, shop, room, or other place.

(2) Upon any matters or things seized under a warrant being brought before him, the magistrate shall, if satisfied that they or any of them are or is obscene, issue a summons requiring the occupier of the house, shop, room, or other place, to appear before him to show cause why those matters or things should not be destroyed.

(3) If the occupier, or some other person claiming to be the owner of the matters or things does not appear before the magistrate, or, though appearing, fails to satisfy the magistrate that the matters or things, were not being kept for any of the purposes aforesaid, the magistrate shall order the

Provided that the magistrate may stay the execution of the order in respect of any of the matters and things aforesaid he may consider should be preserved for use in further proceedings, or, on application being made in that behalf by any interested party, he may stay the execution pending an appeal.

(4) If the magistrate is satisfied that any matters or things seized under a warrant are not obscene or were not being kept for any of the purposes aforesaid, he shall direct that they be returned forthwith to the house, shop, room or other place, in which they were so seized.

Offences of cruelty.
[1 of 1931
12 of 1953
8 of 1997
10 of 1998]

176. (1) If any person—

- (a) shall cruelly beat, kick, ill-treat, over-ride, over-drive, over-load, torture, infuriate, or terrify any animal, or shall cause or procure, or being the owner, permit, any animal to be so used, or shall, by wantonly or unreasonably doing or omitting to do any act, or causing or procuring the commission or omission of any act, cause any unnecessary suffering, or, being the owner, permit any unnecessary suffering to be so caused to any animal; or
- (b) shall convey or carry, or cause or procure, or, being the owner, permit to be conveyed or carried, any animal in such manner or position as to cause that animal any unnecessary suffering; or

- (c) shall cause, procure, or assist at the fighting or baiting of any animal; or shall keep, use, manage, or act or assist in the management of, any premises or place for the purpose, or partly for the purpose, of fighting or baiting any animal, or shall permit any premises or place to be so kept, managed, or used, or shall receive, or cause or procure any person to receive, money for the admission of any person to such premises or place; or
- (d) shall wilfully, without any reasonable cause or excuse, administer, or cause or procure, or being the owner permit, such administration of, any poisonous or injurious drug or substance to any animal, or shall wilfully, without any reasonable cause or excuse, cause any such substance to be taken by any animal; or
- (e) shall subject, or cause or procure, or being the owner permit, to be subjected, any animal to any operation which is performed without due care and humanity, such person shall be guilty of an offence of cruelty and shall be liable to a fine of not less than seven thousand five hundred dollars nor more than fifteen thousand dollars and to imprisonment for six months.

(2) For the purposes of this section, an owner shall be deemed to have permitted cruelty if he shall have failed to exercise reasonable care and supervision in respect of the protection of the animal therefrom:

Provided that, where an owner is convicted of permitting cruelty by reason only of his having failed to exercise such care and supervision, he shall not be liable to imprisonment without the option of a fine.

(3) Nothing in this section shall render illegal or shall apply—

- (a) to the commission or omission of any act in the course of the destruction, or the preparation for destruction, of any animal as food for mankind, unless such destruction or such preparation was accompanied by the infliction of unnecessary suffering; or
- (b) to the coursing or hunting of any captive animal, unless such animal is liberated in an injured, mutilated, or exhausted condition; but a captive animal shall not, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to be coursed or hunted before it is liberated for the purpose of being coursed or hunted, or after it has been recaptured, or if it is under control.

Power of court
to order destruction of animal
[1 of 1931]

177. (1) Where the owner of an animal is convicted of an offence of cruelty it shall be lawful for the court, if the court is satisfied that it would be cruel to keep the animal alive, to direct that the animal be destroyed and to assign the animal to any suitable person for that purpose; and the person to whom such animal is so assigned shall, as soon as possible, destroy such animal, or cause or procure such

c. 7:01 animal to be destroyed in his presence without unnecessary suffering. Any reasonable expense incurred in destroying the animal may be ordered by the court to be paid by the owner and any sum so ordered to be paid shall be regarded and dealt with in all respects as if it were a sum awarded by a judgment of the court under the Summary Jurisdiction (Petty Debt) Act:

Provided that, unless the owner assents, no order shall be made under this section except upon the evidence of a duly registered veterinary surgeon.

No appeal in certain cases.

(2) No appeal shall lie from an order for the destruction of an animal.

Power of court to deprive person convicted of cruelty of ownership of animal.
[1 of 1931]

178. If the owner of any animal shall be guilty of cruelty to the animal, the court may, if it thinks fit, in addition to any other punishment, deprive such person of the ownership of the animal, and may make such order as to the disposal of the animal as it thinks fit under the circumstances:

Provided that no order shall be made under this section unless it is shown by evidence as to a previous conviction under this Act, or as to the character of the owner, or otherwise as to his treatment of the animal, that the animal, if left with the owner, is likely to be exposed to further cruelty.

Compensation for damage done by cruelty to animal.
[1 of 1931
1 of 1989
8 of 1997
10 of 1998]

179. If any person shall, by cruelty within the meaning of this Act to any animal, do or cause to be done, any damage or injury to the animal or any person or property, he shall upon conviction for the cruelty be liable upon the application of the person aggrieved to be ordered to pay as compensation to the person who shall sustain damage or injury as aforesaid such sum not less than five thousand dollars nor more than ten thousand dollars as the court before whom he is convicted may consider reasonable, provided that this section shall not—

- (a) prevent the taking of any other legal proceedings in respect of any such damage or injury, so that a person be not twice proceeded against in respect of the same claim; nor
- (b) affect the liability of any person to be proceeded against and punished under this Act for an offence of cruelty.

Animals
detained before being sent to pound
[1 of 1931
12 of 1953
1 of 1989
8 of 1997
10 of 1998]

180. Any person who detains an animal before it is sent to the pound shall, if necessary, while the animal is so detained supply it with food and water, and if he fails to do so, he shall be liable to a fine of not less than five thousand dollars nor more than ten thousand dollars.

Poisoned grain and flesh.
[1 of 1931
12 of 1989
8 of 1997
10 of 1998]

181. If any person—

- (a) shall sell, or offer or expose for sale, or give away, or cause or procure any person to sell, offer, or expose for sale or give away, or knowingly be a party to the sale or offering or exposing for sale or giving away of any grain or seed which has been rendered poisonous except for bona fide use in agriculture; or
- (b) shall knowingly put or place, or cause or procure any person to put or place, or knowingly be a party to the putting or placing, in or upon any land or building any poison, or any fluid or edible matter (not being sown seed or grain) which has been rendered poisonous, such person shall be liable to a fine of not less than ten thousand dollars nor more than twenty thousand dollars:

Provided that, in any proceedings under paragraph (b), it shall be a defence that the poison was placed by the accused for the purpose of destroying insects and other invertebrates, rats, mice, or other small ground vermin, where such is found to be necessary in the interests of public health, agriculture, or the preservation of other animals, domestic or wild, or for the purpose of manuring the land.

Use of dogs for purpose of draught
[1 of 1931
12 of 1953
4 of 1972
8 of 1997]

182. Any person using, or causing or procuring or being the owner, permitting to be used, any dog for the purpose of drawing or helping to draw any cart, carriage, truck, or barrow on any public highway or elsewhere (except in the case of the use in play by a child of a dog with a toy-cart) shall be liable to a fine of not less than two thousand five hundred dollars nor more than five thousand dollars for the first offence, and to a fine of not less than five thousand dollars nor more than ten thousand dollars for the second or any subsequent offence.

Inspection of traps
[1 of 1931
12 of 1953
8 of 1997
10 of 1998]

183. Any person who sets, or causes or procures to be set, any spring trap for the purpose of catching any animal or which is so placed as to be likely to catch any animal, shall inspect or cause some competent person to inspect the trap at reasonable intervals of time and at least once every day between sunrise and sunset, and if any person shall fail to comply with this section he shall be liable to a fine of not less than two thousand five hundred dollars nor more than five thousand dollars.

Injured
animals
[1 of 1931

184. (1) If a police officer or constable finds any animal so diseased or so severely injured or in such a physical condition that, in his opinion, having regard to the means available for removing the animal, there is no possibility of removing without cruelty, he shall, if the owner is absent or refuses to consent to the destruction of the animal, at once summon a duly registered veterinary surgeon and if it appears by the certificate of such surgeon that the animal is mortally injured, or so severely injured, or so diseased, or in such a physical condition, that it is cruel to keep it alive, it shall be lawful for the police officer or constable, without the consent of the owner to slaughter the animal, or cause, or procure it to be slaughtered, with such instruments or appliances and with such precautions and in such manner, as to inflict as little suffering as practicable, and, if the slaughter takes place on any public highway, to remove the carcass or cause or procure it to be removed therefrom.

(2) If any veterinary surgeon summoned under this section certifies that the injured animal can without cruelty be removed, it shall be the duty of the person in charge of the animal to cause it forthwith to be removed with as little suffering as possible, and if that person fails so to do, the police officer may, without the consent of that person, cause the animal forthwith to be so removed.

(3) Any expense which may be reasonably incurred by any police officer or constable in carrying out the provisions of this section (including the expenses of any veterinary surgeon summoned by the police officer or constable and whether the animals slaughtered under this section or not) may be recovered from the owner under the Summary Jurisdiction (Petty Debt) Act.

(4) For the purposes of this section the expression "animal" means any horse, bull, sheep, goat or pig.
